Dine' Council of Elders Thoreau Community Center Noreen Kelly Program Director BHSD: Barbara Alvarez	505-870-6701	$14,000.00	Dine' Council of Elders for Peace provides domestic violence services for Navajo couples. Traditional Education and Mentoring is provided by the Dine' Council, an organization developed over several years in partnerships with McKinley County Sheriff's Office. Cultural education and traditional problems solving skills are provided through a mentor relationship with a tribal elder. This approach is supportive of the legal and court status and obligation of the offender, while implementing cultural specific education and supportive services. This program emphasizes an understanding of healthy human development within the native community and family. Offenders receive education and supportive counseling.
First Nations Community Healthsource (FNCH) 5608 Zuni SE Albuquerque, NM 87108 Linda Son-Stone CEO BHSD: Barbara Alvarez	505-262-6546	$30,000.00	The program is comprised of Traditional Native Counseling which involved conducting culturally competent screening and intake services by a traditional counselor. The goal of the program is to enhance the quality and cultural appropriateness of BHS services to more American Indians. A Traditional Healer will be contracted to provide traditional healing ceremonies for two days per month to assist clients with their spiritual needs. Ceremonies included traditional sweat lodges, talking circles, and traditional healing circles. A case manager/outreach worker was also hired to conduct community outreach services including assisting clients with their social services and other needs.
